SENT TO THE SENATE

CORRESPONDENCE BETWEEN COLOMBIAN ENVOY AND SECRETARY OF STATE HAY.

UNITED STATES ARRAIGNED

GENERAL REYES BLAMES THE COUNTRY FOR SUCCESS OF REVOLT IN PANAMA.

Washington, Jan. 19.—President Roosevelt transmitted to the senate Monday additional correspondence touching the relations of the United States with Colombia and Panama, covering the period from Dec. 23, 1903, to Jan. 6 last.

A statement of grievances on the part of Colombia was presented to the state department by General Reyes on Dec. 23. General Reyes says that the course of the United States had worked deep injury to Colombia and he cited the treaty of 1846 as showing that the independence and sovereignty of Colombia was to be maintained intact between the two governments.

General Reyes said with reference to the Hay-Herran treaty that the same course was followed in Bogota as was pursued in Washington. If the treaty, he said, had been rejected in Washington the disapproval would have involved no grievance for Colombia, and that the Colombian congress in its disapproval of the treaty simply exercised a vested right. This action, he maintained, did not disqualify the Colombian government from the conclusion of another treaty.

In speaking of the action of the Colombian congress in its efforts to amend the treaty, General Reyes says: "Might Have Approved Treaty."

"I firmly believe that it would have approved the convention with amendments that would probably have been acceptable to the United States had not the American minister at Bogota repeatedly declared in the most positive manner that his government would reject any amendments that might be offered."

As to the recognition of the Republic of Panama, General Reyes says that it is a matter of public knowledge that the mother country commands sufficient forces to subdue a revolution, and would have suppressed that of Panama but for the attitude of the United States.

General Reyes reviews events from the time of the revolt in Panama up to Jan. 6 last, touching upon them from Colombia's point of view. He states that before the coup de main took place at Panama that there were authors of that coup in conference in Washington with high personages clothed with official character, as is asserted by reputable American newspapers. He also states that a New York bank opened a considerable credit in favor of these agents, with a knowledge of the general use for which it was intended.

The Panama revolutionists, continues General Reyes, were counseled by speculators of several countries who had assumed the direction of affairs, and he asserts that thousands of inhabitants of Panama condemned the separatist movement.

Holds United States Responsible.
General Reyes says that Panama has become independent because the government of the United States desired it; because with its incomparably superior force the United States prevented the landing of Colombian troops; because even before the separatist movement was known in Bogota the United States had its war vessels at the entrance of Colombian ports preventing the departure of Colombian battalions; "because without regard to the precedent established by statesmen who have dealt with this matter, the United States has not respected our rights in that strip of land which Colombia considers as a divine bequest for the innocent use of the American family of states, and finally because the government of the United States, invoking and putting into practice the right of might, has taken from us by bloodless conquest, but by conquest nevertheless, the most important part of the national territory. In this crisis of the life of my country, as unlooked for as it is terrible, Colombia rests its most comforting hopes in the sentiments of justice which animate the government of your excellency and confidently trusts that that government which has so many times surprised the world by its wisdom, will, on this occasion, astonish it by its example."

Proposes Arbitration.

General Reyes cites the Thirty-fifth article of the treaty of 1846, providing that when either country feels itself offended it shall lay before the other a statement of such injury or damages, and concludes:

"Since the aforesaid treaty is the law which governs between the two countries, I propose that the claims which I make in the present note on account of the violation of the aforesaid treaty and all other claims which may hereafter be made in connection with the events of Panama be submitted to the arbitral tribunal of The Hague."

Secretary Hay answered this note under date of Jan. 5. He says the government has carefully considered the grave complaints made and assures General Reyes of our most friendly sentiments for the government and people of Colombia. The question submitted, he says, can be considered only in the light of accomplished facts, of which one is that the Republic of Panama has become a member of the family of nations.

Surprised at Imputations.

"The department has read with surprise," Mr. Hay comments, "your repetition of gross imputations upon the conduct and motives of this government, which are said to have appeared in reputable American newspapers."

Mr. Hay reviews in detail, first, the necessity of a waterway connecting the two oceans, and, secondly, all the legislative and diplomatic procedure which has taken place to secure that end.

Secretary Hay says the United States had faithfully borne during the long period since the treaty of 1846 was completed the full burden of its responsibility. "Meanwhile," he continued, "the great design of the treaty of 1846 remained unfulfilled, and in the one end it became apparent as has heretofore been shown that it could be fulfilled only by the construction of a canal by the government of the United States. By reason of the action of the government at Bogota in repudiating the Hay-Herran convention and of the views and intentions disclosed in connection with that repudiation the government was confronted, when the revolution at Panama took place, with the alternative of either which it expected and was entitled to derive from the treaty of 1846 or of resorting to measures the necessity of which it could contemplate only with regret.

"By the declaration of independence of the Republic of Panama, a new situation was created. On the one hand stood the government of Colombia, invoking in the name of the treaty of 1846 the aid of this government in its efforts to suppress the revolution; on the other hand stood the Republic of Panama that had come into being in order that the great design of that treaty might not be forever frustrated, but might be fulfilled. The isthmus was threatened with desolation by another civil war. Nor were the rights and interests of the United States alone at stake. The interests of the whole civilized world were involved. The Republic of Panama stood for these interests, the government of Colombia opposed them and the United States was compelled to choose between these two interests. The government of the United States,

In No Way Responsible

for the situation that has arisen, did not hesitate. It recognized the independence of Panama and in its judgment and action in the emergency the powers of the world have set the seal of their approval."

Secretary Hay then says the United States is sorry for the unfortunate plight of Colombia and would gladly exercise its good offices to adjust matters on an equitable basis between Colombia and Panama and adds:

"For the acceptance of your proposal of a resort to The Hague tribunal, this government perceives no occasion. Indeed the questions presented in your statement of grievances are of a political nature such as nations, even of the most advanced ideas as to international arbitration, have not proposed to deal with by that process."

Under date of Jan. 6, General Reyes submits another note to Secretary Hay in which he says the secretary's note is construed as an intimation that the Colombian forces will be on their entrance the territory of Panama to subdue the rebellion and for that reason it would hold the government of the United States for all damages caused to it by the loss of that national territory.

Secretary Hay replied to this note on Jan. 9, saying that all its propositions had been answered in his previous reply; he expressed friendliness for Colombia, and concluded with the statement that if Colombia should persist in assuming a hostile attitude toward the United States, this country would reluctantly act accordingly.

Under date of Jan. 11, General Reyes addressed Secretary Hay, stating that he finds his argument had not been refuted and disposes at some length his proposition to refer the matter to The Hague and concludes with a regret on the failure of his mission to the United States.

Secretary Hay answers this note under date of Jan. 13, with the statement that there is no reason to reconsider the attitude of the United States as heretofore set forth.

HALE AND GORMAN SPEAK.

Senators Discuss Postoffice Inquiry Resolutions.

Washington, Jan. 19.—The postoffice inquiry resolutions and Panama canal question divided the attention of the senate Monday. The first half of the session was given up to the inquiry, Messrs. Hale and Gorman being the speakers. Mr. Hale made a plea for the reference of all postal investigation resolutions to the committee on postoffices and Mr. Gorman repeated his assurance that he would be satisfied with that disposal of the question. He denied any intention to appear as a prosecutor of the Republican party, of which Mr. Hale accused him.

Mr. Hale expressed the opinion that the departmental inquiry had been more thorough than would be a congressional investigation. The question went over until today with the understanding that after a few more speeches the resolutions would be allowed to go to the committee.

The discussion of the Panama canal question was confined to the continuation of Mr. Teller's argument that the course of the United States in the recent revolt of Panama was contrary to international law and sound morals.

While the Panama canal question has been before the senate on general principles during the greater part of the present session, the Panama canal treaty was not reported until Monday. It had no sooner been reported favorably to the senate in executive session than it became the subject of heated controversy, Senators Daniel, Cullom, Spooner, Allison and Morgan speaking on the subject, which will be considered from day to day to the exclusion of other business.

WILLIAM J. BRYAN DELIVERS AN ADDRESS IN FAVOR OF KANSAS CITY PLATFORM.

WITH NECESSARY ADDITIONS

HE ADVOCATES ITS ADOPTION BY THE DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION AT ST. LOUIS.

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 19.—A formal welcome to W. J. Bryan on his return from Europe, taking the form of a "dollar dinner," was held last night and was attended by nearly 700 Democrats, made up principally of men in full sympathy and accord with Mr. Bryan's political policies. It was intended as a testimonial of regard and sympathy with Mr. Bryan's political ideals from members of his party in the city and state, and to mark his entry into active participation of the pre-convention campaign. Mr. Bryan held a short reception previous to the banquet and was given an enthusiastic greeting.

Mr. Bryan responded to the toast, "The Moral Issue." His speech was given close attention and heartily applauded, his declaration that the Kansas City platform was sound in every plank and must be reiterated, together with his demand that the nominees of the St. Louis convention be in accord with that platform, bringing out the demonstration of the evening.

Mr. Bryan deplored the commercial spirit of the age, which, he said, is corrupting every grade of politics and urged an appeal to the moral sense of the people to stamp out traffic in public office and in votes.

Mr. Bryan emphatically denounced "imperialism," opposed the trusts; advocated bimetalism and said the money question might again become acute; he favored tariff reform; election of senators by the people and said:

"The Kansas City platform is sound in every plank and the first act of the next Democratic convention should be to reaffirm it in its entirety, and its next act should be the addition of new planks in harmony with it and covering such new questions as demand consideration."

STATUS OF NEGOTIATIONS.

Two Main Questions at Issue Between Russia and Japan.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 19.—The Associated Press correspondent, on high authority, is able to give the following as the present status of the negotiations between Russia and Japan:

Russia recognizes Japan's predominance in Korea and Japan recognizes Russia's position in Manchuria. There are two main questions still at issue—the Russian demand for a neutral zone on the Korean side of the Yalu river, which Japan met with a proposal for the similar neutral strip on the Manchurian side. Japan also asks for certain guarantees covering Manchuria which Russia thus far has declined to grant. It is pointed out, however, that the assurances given a few days ago by Russian regarding open ports in Manchuria and respect for treaty rights is a concession on this point.

That the two countries are not so far apart may be fairly inferred from the following statement made by Mr. Kurino, the Japanese minister:

"War now would only be disastrous to both countries. Owing to the geographical situation an armed conflict would result in a great drain of the men and treasure of both Japan and Russia without being decisive. Besides I believe it would not be worth while to go to war on the questions still in dispute."

There is a strong indication that through the czar's personal acts, the peace party is completely in the ascendant.

The czar, in receiving the ministers in state at Tsarkoe-Selo on Sunday declared that all danger of a conflict was now ended.

From other sources, however, the news is less favorable, and the Japanese people are said to be belligerent.

EARLY CONVENTION PROBABLE.

Minnesota Republicans May Be Called Together in March.

St. Paul, Jan. 19.—A special to the Globe from Washington says: Governor Van Sant has acquired information since his arrival in Washington which leaves no doubt in his mind that the Hanna presidential boom is a serious menace to Roosevelt, and which has convinced him that steps ought to be taken in Minnesota at once to insure a loyal Roosevelt delegation in the national convention.

It is said that when Governor Van Sant returns to Minnesota a call will be issued for a state convention to convene some time in March.

This haste and plans for an early state convention are for the purpose of heading off any schemes Mr. Hanna may have for executing a coup at the last minute.

Facts are in the possession of Roosevelt's friends which leave no further doubt in their minds that the only way Roosevelt will get the Republican nomination is to go out now and fight for it. He believes he is strong enough to force the issue and will do so. Minnesota he regards as his banner state and he is relying on Minnesota Republicans to take part in the campaign for instructed delegates.

SENT TO THE SENATE

CORRESPONDENCE BETWEEN COLOMBIAN ENVOY AND SECRETARY OF STATE HAY.

UNITED STATES ARRAIGNED

GENERAL REYES BLAMES THIS COUNTRY FOR SUCCESS OF REVOLT IN PANAMA.

Washington, Jan. 19.—President Roosevelt transmitted to the senate Monday additional correspondence touching the relations of the United States with Colombia and Panama, covering the period from Dec. 23, 1903, to Jan. 6 last.

A statement of grievances on the part of Colombia was presented to the state department by General Reyes on Dec. 23. General Reyes says that the course of the United States had worked deep injury to Colombia and he cited the treaty of 1846 as showing that the independence and sovereignty of Colombia was to be maintained intact between the two governments.

General Reyes said with reference to the Hay-Herran treaty that the same course was followed in Bogota as was pursued in Washington. If the treaty, he said, had been respected in Washington the disapproval would have involved no grievance for Colombia, and that the Colombian congress in its disapproval of the treaty simply exercised a vested right. This action, he maintained, did not disqualify the Colombian government for the conclusion of another treaty.

In speaking of the action of the Colombian congress in its efforts to amend the treaty, General Reyes says:

Might Have Approved Treaty.

"I firmly believe that it would have approved the convention with amendments that would probably have been acceptable to the United States had not the American minister at Bogota repeatedly declared in the most positive manner that his government would reject any amendments that might be offered."

As to the recognition of the Republic of Panama, General Reyes says that it is a matter of public knowledge that the mother country commands sufficient forces to subdue a revolution, and would have suppressed that of Panama but for the attitude of the United States.

General Reyes reviews events from the time of the revolt in Panama up to Jan. 6 last, touching upon them from Colombia's point of view. He states that before the coup de main took place at Panama that there were authors of that coup in conference in Washington with high personages clothed with official character, as is asserted by reputable American newspapers. He also states that a New York bank opened a considerable credit in favor of these agents, with a knowledge of the general use for which it was intended.

The Panama revolutionists, continues General Reyes, were counseled by speculators of several countries who had assumed the direction of affairs, and he asserts that thousands of inhabitants of Panama condemned the separatist movement.

Holds United States Responsible.

General Reyes says that Panama has become independent because the government of the United States desired it; because with its incomparably superior force the United States prevented the landing of Colombian troops; because even before the separatist movement was known in Bogota the United States had its war vessels at the entrance of Colombian ports preventing the departure of Colombian battalions; "because without regard to the precedent established by statesmen who have dealt with this matter, the United States has not respected our rights in that strip of land which Colombia considers as a divine bequest for the innocent use of the American family of states, and finally because the government of the United States, invoking and putting into practice the right of might, has taken from us by bloodless conquest, but by conquest nevertheless, the most important part of the national territory. Proposes Arbitration.

General Reyes cites the Thirty-fifth article of the treaty of 1846, providing that when either country feels itself offended it shall lay before the other a statement of such injury or damages, and concludes:

"Since the aforesaid treaty is the law which governs between the two countries, I propose that the claims which I make in the present note on account of the violation of the aforesaid treaty and all other claims which may hereafter be made in connection with the events of Panama be submitted to the arbitral tribunal of The Hague."

Secretary Hay answered this note under date of Jan. 5. He says the government has carefully considered the grave complaints made and assures General Reyes of our most friendly sentiments for the government and people of Colombia. The question submitted, he says, can be considered only in the light of accomplished facts, of which one is that the Republic of Panama has become a member of the family of nations.

Surprised at Imputations.

"The department has read with surprise," Mr. Hay comments, "your repetition of gross imputations upon the conduct and motives of this government, which are said to have appeared in reputable American newspapers."

Mr. Hay reviews in detail, first, the necessity of a waterway connecting the two oceans, and, secondly, all the legislative and diplomatic procedure which has taken place to secure that end.

Secretary Hay says the United States had faithfully borne during the long period since the treaty of 1846 was completed the full burden of its responsibility. "Meanwhile," he continued, "the great design of the treaty of 1846 remained unfulfilled, and in the one end it became apparent as has heretofore been shown that it could be fulfilled only by the construction of a canal by the government of the United States. "For the acceptance of your proposal of a resort to The Hague tribunal, this government perceives no occasion. Indeed the questions presented in your statement of grievances are of a political nature such as nations, even of the most advanced ideas as to international arbitration, have not proposed to deal with by that process."

Under date of Jan. 6, General Reyes submits another note to Secretary Hay in which he says the secretary's note is construed as an intimation that the Colombian forces will be on their entering the territory of Panama to subdue the rebellion and for that reason it would hold the government of the United States for all damages caused to it by the loss of that national territory.

Secretary Hay replied to this note on Jan. 9, saying that all its propositions had been answered in his previous reply; he expressed friendliness for Colombia, and concluded with the statement that if Colombia should persist in assuming a hostile attitude toward the United States, this country would reluctantly act accordingly.

Under date of Jan. 11, General Reyes addressed Secretary Hay, stating that he finds his argument had not been refuted and discusses at some length his proposition to refer the matter to The Hague and concludes with a regret on the failure of his mission to the United States.

Secretary Hay answers this note under date of Jan. 13, with the statement that there is no reason to reconsider the attitude of the United States as heretofore set forth.

Mr. Bryan responded to the toast, "The Moral Issue." His speech was given close attention and heartily applauded, his declaration that the Kansas City platform was sound in every plank and must be reiterated, together with his demand that the nominees of the St. Louis convention be in accord with that platform, bringing out the demonstration of the evening.

Mr. Bryan deplored the commercial spirit of the age, which, he said, is corrupting every grade of politics and urged an appeal to the moral sense of the people to stamp out traffic in public office and in votes.

Mr. Bryan emphatically denounced "imperialism," opposed the trusts; advocated bimetalism and said the money question might again become acute; he favored tariff reform; election of senators by the people and said:

"The Kansas City platform is sound in every plank and the first act of the next Democratic convention should be to reaffirm it in its entirety, and its next act should be the addition of new planks in harmony with it and covering such new questions as demand consideration."

STATUS OF NEGOTIATIONS.

Two Main Questions at Issue Between Russia and Japan.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 19.—The Associated Press correspondent, on high authority, is able to give the following as the present status of the negotiations between Russia and Japan:

Russia recognizes Japan's predominance in Korea and Japan recognizes Russia's position in Manchuria. There are two main questions still at issue—the Russian demand for a neutral zone on the Korean side of the Yalu river, which Japan met with a proposal for the similar neutral strip on the Manchurian side. Japan also asks for certain guarantees covering Manchuria which Russia thus far has declined to grant. It is pointed out, however, that the assurances given few days ago by Russian regarding open ports in Manchuria and respect for treaty rights is a concession on this point.

That the two countries are not so far apart may be fairly inferred from the following statement made by Mr. Kurino, the Japanese minister:

"War now would only be disastrous to both countries. Owing to the geographical situation an armed conflict would result in a great drain of the men and treasure of both Japan and Russia without being decisive. Besides I believe it would not be worth while to go to war on the questions still in dispute."

There is a strong indication that through the czar's personal acts, the peace party is completely in the ascendant.

The czar, in receiving the ministers in state at Tsarkoe-Selo on Sunday declared that all danger of a conflict was now ended.

From other sources, however, the news is less favorable, and the Japanese people are said to be belligerent.

EARLY CONVENTION PROBABLE.

Minnesota Republicans May Be Called Together in March.

St. Paul, Jan. 19.—A special to the Globe from Washington says: Governor Van Sant has acquired information since his arrival in Washington which leaves no doubt in his mind that the Hanna presidential boom is a serious menace to Roosevelt, and which has convinced him that steps ought to be taken in Minnesota at once to insure a loyal Roosevelt delegation in the national convention.

It is said that when Governor Van Sant returns to Minnesota a call will be issued for a state convention to convene some time in March.

This haste and plans for an early state convention are for the purpose of heading off any schemes Mr. Hanna may have for executing a coup at the last minute.

Facts are in the possession of Roosevelt's friends which leave no further doubt in their minds that the only way Roosevelt will get the Republican nomination is to go out now and fight for it. He believes he is strong enough to force the issue and will do so. Minnesota he regards as his banner state and he is relying on Minnesota Republicans to take part in the campaign for instructed delegates.

SENT TO THE SENATE

CORRESPONDENCE BETWEEN COLOMBIAN ENVOY AND SECRETARY OF STATE HAY.

UNITED STATES ARRAIGNED

GENERAL REYES BLAMES THIS COUNTRY FOR SUCCESS OF REVOLT IN PANAMA.

Washington, Jan. 19.—President Roosevelt transmitted to the senate Monday additional correspondence touching the relations of the United States with Colombia and Panama, covering the period from Dec. 23, 1903, to Jan. 6 last.

A statement of grievances on the part of Colombia was presented to the state department by General Reyes on Dec. 23. General Reyes says that the course of the United States had worked deep injury to Colombia and he cited the treaty of 1846 as showing that the independence and sovereignty of Colombia was to be maintained intact between the two governments.

General Reyes said with reference to the Hay-Herran treaty that the same course was followed in Bogota as was pursued in Washington. If the treaty, he said, had been respected in Washington the disapproval would have involved no grievance to Colombia, and that the Colombian congress in its disapproval of the treaty simply exercised a vested right. This action, he maintained, did not disqualify the Colombian government for the conclusion of another treaty.

In speaking of the action of the Colombian congress in its efforts to amend the treaty, General Reyes says: "I firmly believe that it would have approved the convention with amendments that would probably have been acceptable to the United States had not the American minister at Bogota repeatedly declared in the most positive manner that his government would reject any amendments that might be offered."

As to the recognition of the Republic of Panama, General Reyes says that it is a matter of public knowledge that the mother country commands sufficient forces to subdue a revolution, and would have suppressed that of Panama but for the attitude of the United States.

General Reyes reviews events from the time of the revolt in Panama up to Jan. 6 last, touching upon them from Colombia's point of view. He states that before the coup d'etat took place at Panama that there were authors of that coup in conference in Washington with high personages clothed with official character, as is asserted by reputable American newspapers. He also states that a New York bank opened a considerable credit in favor of these agents, with a knowledge of the general use for which it was intended.

The Panama revolutionists, continues General Reyes, were counseled by speculators of several countries who had assumed the direction of affairs, and he asserts that thousands of inhabitants of Panama condemned the separatist movement.

Holds United States Responsible.

General Reyes says that Panama has become independent because the government of the United States desired it; because with its incomparably superior force the United States prevented the landing of Colombian troops; because even before the separatist movement was known in Bogota the United States had its war vessels at the entrance of Colombian ports preventing the departure of Colombian battalions; "because without regard to the precedent established by statesmen who have dealt with this matter, the United States has not respected our rights in that strip of land which Colombia considers as a divine bequest for the innocent use of the American family of states, and finally because the government of the United States, invoking and putting into practice the right of might, has taken from us by bloodless conquest, but by conquest nevertheless, the most important part of the national territory. In this crisis of the life of my country, as unlooked for as it is terrible, Colombia rests its most comforting hopes in the sentiments of justice which animate the government of your excellency and confidently trusts that that government which has so many times surprised the world by its wisdom, will, on this occasion, astonish it by its example."

Proposes Arbitration.

General Reyes cites the Thirty-fifth article of the treaty of 1846, providing that when either country feels itself offended it shall lay before the other a statement of such injury or damages, and concludes:

"Since the aforesaid treaty is the law which governs between the two countries, I propose that the claims which I make in the present note on account of the violation of the aforesaid treaty and all other claims which may hereafter be made in connection with the events of Panama be submitted to the arbitral tribunal of The Hague."

Secretary Hay answered this note under date of Jan. 5. He says the government has carefully considered the grave complaints made and assures General Reyes of our most friendly sentiments for the government and people of Colombia. The question submitted, he says, can be considered only in the light of accomplished facts, of which one is that the Republic of Panama has become a member of the family of nations.

Surprised at Imputations.

"The department has read with surprise," Mr. Hay comments, "your repetition of gross imputations upon the conduct and motives of this government, which are said to have appeared in reputable American newspapers."

Mr. Hay reviews in detail, first, the necessity of a waterway connecting the two oceans, and, secondly, all the legislative and diplomatic procedure which has taken place to secure that end.

Secretary Hay says the United States had faithfully borne during the long period since the treaty of 1846 was completed the full burden of its responsibility. "Meanwhile," he continued, "the great design of the treaty of 1846 remained unfulfilled, and in the one end it became apparent as has heretofore been shown that it could be fulfilled only by the construction of a canal by the government of the United States. By reason of the action of the government at Bogota in repudiating the Hay-Herran convention and of the views and intentions disclosed in connection with that repudiation the government was confronted, when the revolution at Panama took place, with the alternative of either which it expected and was entitled to derive from the treaty of 1846 or of resorting to measures the necessity of which it could contemplate only with regret.

"By the declaration of independence of the Republic of Panama, a new situation was created. On the one hand stood the government of Colombia, invoking in the name of the treaty of 1846 the aid of this government in its efforts to suppress the revolution; on the other hand stood the Republic of Panama that had come into being in order that the great design of that treaty might not be forever frustrated, but might be fulfilled. The isthmus was threatened with desolation by another civil war. Nor were the rights and interests of the United States alone at stake. The interests of the whole civilized world were involved. The Republic of Panama stood for these interests, the government of Colombia opposed them and the United States was compelled to choose between these two interests. The government of the United States, for the situation that has arisen, did not hesitate. It recognized the independence of Panama and in its judgment and action in the emergency the powers of the world have set the seal of their approval."

In No Way Responsible

Secretary Hay then says the United States is sorry for the unfortunate plight of Colombia and would gladly exercise its good offices to adjust matters on an equitable basis between Colombia and Panama and adds:

"For the acceptance of your proposal of a resort to The Hague tribunal, this government perceives no occasion. Indeed the questions presented in your statement of grievances are of a political nature such as nations, even of the most advanced ideas as to international arbitration, have not proposed to deal with by that process."

Under date of Jan. 6, General Reyes submits another note to Secretary Hay in which he says the secretary's note is construed as an intimation that the Colombian forces will be on their entering the territory of Panama to subdue the rebellion and for that reason it would hold the government of the United States for all damages caused to it by the loss of that national territory.

Secretary Hay replied to this note on Jan. 9, saying that all its propositions had been answered in his previous reply; he expressed friendliness for Colombia, and concluded with the statement that if Colombia should persist in assuming a hostile attitude toward the United States, this country would reluctantly act accordingly.

Under date of Jan. 11, General Reyes addressed Secretary Hay, stating that he finds his argument had not been refuted and discusses at some length his proposition to refer the matter to The Hague and concludes with a regret on the failure of his mission to the United States.

Secretary Hay answers this note under date of Jan. 13, with the statement that there is no reason to reconsider the attitude of the United States as heretofore set forth.

HALE AND GORMAN SPEAK.

Senators Discuss Postoffice Inquiry Resolutions.

Washington, Jan. 19.—The postoffice inquiry resolutions and Panama canal question divided the attention of the senate Monday. The first half of the session was given up to the inquiry. Messrs. Hale and Gorman being the speakers. Mr. Hale made a plea for the reference of all postal investigation resolutions to the committee on postoffices and Mr. Gorman repeated his assurance that he would be satisfied with that disposal of the question. He denied any intention to appear as a prosecutor of the Republican party, of which Mr. Hale accused him.

Mr. Hale expressed the opinion that the departmental inquiry had been more thorough than would be a congressional investigation. The question went over until today with the understanding that after a few more speeches the resolutions would be allowed to go to the committee.

The discussion of the Panama canal question was confined to the continuation of Mr. Teller's argument that the course of the United States in the recent revolt of Panama was contrary to international law and sound morals.

While the Panama canal question has been before the senate on general principles during the greater part of the present session, the Panama canal treaty was not reported until Monday. It had no sooner been reported favorably to the senate in executive session than it became the subject of heated controversy. Senators Daniel, Cullom, Spooner, Allison and Morgan speaking on the subject, which will be considered from day to day to the exclusion of other business.

WITH NECESSARY ADDITIONS

HE ADVOCATES ITS ADOPTION BY THE DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION AT ST. LOUIS.

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 19.—A formal welcome to W. J. Bryan on his return from Europe, taking the form of a "dollar dinner," was held last night and was attended by nearly 700 Democrats, made up principally of men in full sympathy and accord with Mr. Bryan's political policies. It was intended as a testimonial of regard and sympathy with Mr. Bryan's political ideals from members of his party in the city and state, and to mark his entry into active participation of the pre-convention campaign. Mr. Bryan held a short reception previous to the banquet and was given an enthusiastic greeting.

Mr. Bryan responded to the toast, "The Moral Issue." His speech was given close attention and heartily applauded, his declaration that the Kansas City platform was sound in every plank and must be reiterated, together with his demand that the nominees of the St. Louis convention be in accord with that platform, bringing out the demonstration of the evening.

Mr. Bryan deplored the commercial spirit of the age, which, he said, is corrupting every grade of politics and urged an appeal to the moral sense of the people to stamp out traffic in public office and in votes.

YOEMEN INSTALLATION TONIGHT

And Some Distinguished Personalities Will be Present and Deliver Good Addresses.

Last night the I. O. O. F. members, the members of the Encampment and the Rebekahs held a joint installation in Odd Fellows hall and the event was made a memorable one in Odd Fellow circles in this city. After the installation, which was gone through with much interest, some excellent addresses by Rev. Harry Knowles, of the First M. E. church, and Mr. O. G. Mason, who is a guest in the city, were listened to. The addresses over, the members of the order seated themselves around the banquet board and partook of a sumptuous feast prepared by the Rebekahs. The event was very interesting throughout.

Tonight the members of the Yoemen order in this city will install their officers. Ordinarily this would not mean anything unusual but tonight the presence of two of the leading spirits of the order will add more importance to the occasion. Dr. O. G. Winters, deputy manager for Wisconsin, Minnesota and North Dakota, and M. O. G. Mason, grand master of ceremonies, will be present and the event will be made the more interesting from this fact. Both gentlemen will deliver addresses and it is understood that a fine program has been mapped out. A banquet will be served and several toasts listened to.

BOER LEADERS.

The following is from the St. Paul Globe, Sunday, December 13, 1903:

"Under the present methods of the British, the Boers can never become satisfied under English rule," said Gen. G. D. Loubert, a brave and picturesque man, who left his cattle ranch to command a division of the Boer army during the late war with Great Britain.

Gen. Joubert, in company with his former aid-de-camp, Capt. W. S. O'Donnell, who made a fine record for himself, arrived in St. Paul yesterday and will lecture this afternoon at the Metropolitan opera house on the "Boer People and their War with Great Britain."

Gen. Joubert was born and raised in South Africa. His ancestors were among the first Huguenots to go to that country in the seventeenth century. He was engaged in farming and cattle dealing when the war broke out and immediately offered his services.

During the most critical period of the war he was in command of the south-eastern division of the Orange Free State army. Gen. Joubert was wounded three times during the war, and was finally captured when he received his third wound. He came to the United States some months ago to receive treatment for his wounds.

Capt. O'Donnell left Ireland when a boy of fourteen, after an outbreak of the farmers against the landlords. He went to South Africa and for several years was also in Australia. He was engaged in railroad construction work and also interested in mining when the war opened. He served on Gen. Dewitt's and Gen. Joubert's staffs.

These famous Boer Leaders will give one of their great entertainments at the Brainerd theatre next Thursday, Jan. 21. They have some wonderful views taken on the field of battle. Seats will be on sale tomorrow at Dunn's.

"THE MIDNIGHT EXPRESS."

"The Midnight Express" will be the attraction at the Brainerd opera house on Saturday, Jan. 23. The play is a new sensational comedy drama from the pen of the well known playwright, Mr. John J. Kennedy. The cast is in the hands of competent artists. A remarkable railroad scene with a real life size train of cars dashing across the stage at full speed, a wonderful death struggle and leap for life, an amazing lifeboat scene and a storm at sea are some of the marvelous effects introduced in the piece.

WARNER COMEDY COMPANY.

The Warner Comedy Co. will appear at the Brainerd theatre all next week at popular prices. This is acknowledged to be the best show of its kind which ever appeared in the west.

"NINE ROW" IS THREATENED

Home of Peter Nordquist was Destroyed by Fire Last Night-Partially Covered by Insurance.

Last evening about 4:30 o'clock an alarm was turned in from East Brainerd and the department made a very quick run to Elm street, where it was discovered that the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Nordquist, the last house on the east end of what is known as the old "nine row," was on fire. The little row of houses are in close proximity to one another and it was reported down town that they were all afire. The department, however, confined the fire to the one house.

The house was a small one and the loss will not exceed $400, although the structure was burned to the ground. All the furniture in the house was taken out and there was very little damage to this. The other houses were threatened but the prompt response of the department saved further damage.

The Brainerd Lumber company carries a full line of sash, doors, windows and storm sash.

DETAILS OF THE ACCIDENT

Particulars of the Accidental Killing of Frank B. Hawley as Given by a Montana Exchange.

The details regarding the accident in which Frank B. Hawley lost his life are contained in the following writeup in a Montana exchange:

"When the combination freight and passenger train No. 4 pulled into the yards Monday it was found that F. B. Hawley, the head brakeman, was missing. A hurried search was made made but nothing could be found of him. Sheriff L. P. Slater was telephoned for and he accompanied the train crew with an engine out as far as Glengary, all of the way being thoroughly searched for some trace of the missing trainman. The search was continued until 3 o'clock yesterday morning, when it was abandoned until daylight. Nothing having been heard of him the train went out in the morning without him.

"About 9:30 o'clock Tom Kern, foreman of the construction crew, found the body of the missing man in Spring creek, lodged against a gravel pile about 250 yards below where the track crosses the stream. Acting Coroner McFarland and County Attorney Helden were notified and a coroner's jury was summoned at once. On the jury were J. C. Mattoon, Joe Briggs, Fred Shaw, John Rowley, William Woods and Donald Fowler. They went out and viewed the body as it lay in the creek, after which it was taken from the water and placed in the undertaking room of George Creel. Here a thorough examination was made by the jury but no marks of violence were found. Superintendent E. H. Hoar was notified of the finding of the body and is making an effort to get into communication with the unfortunate man's mother, who is said to be a widow living in Brainerd, Minn.

"The coroner's jury met in the office of Justice McFarland last night about 9 o'clock and held the inquest. Engineer Butler, Conductor Haviland and Fireman Davenport, the other members of the train crew on No. 4, and Foreman Tom Kern were examined. The train men testified to having seen Hawley on the third car back at the crossing of Main street. How he came to fall into the creek none of them could tell. The theory was advanced that as there was some snow on the top of the car and Hawley did not have on any overshoes, he slipped and fell from the car. Either that or he got off the car and fell as he started across the trestle. The latter theory seems the more probable, as one of his gloves was found on the bank of the creek near the railroad crossing. His lantern was found in the creek about fifty feet below the crossing. After hearing all of the facts, so far as the railroad men knew them, the jury retired and within a few moments brought in a verdict as follows:

"We, the jury, find that F. B. Hawley came to his death from accidental drowning."

"Hawley was a powerfully built young fellow about 25 years of age and had been in the employ of the railroad company only about ten days or two weeks. This was his third trip out and in. His body will be held here pending some word from his relatives or acquaintances in Brainerd."

HOW HYOMEI HELPS THE HEALTH

Kills the Germs of Grip, Catarrh and Colds, "Costs Nothing If It Fails."

Now that Hyomei can be obtained in nearly every town and city in the country, it is possible to buy from druggists a health giving climate to be carried in the purse or pocket. By breathing it a few minutes four times a day you can soon cure grip, coughs, colds and even the worst and most chronic cases of catarrh.

H. P. Dunn & Co. have seen so many remarkable cures made by the Hyomei treatment, that they sell it with the positive agreement to return the money if it fails to cure.

A complete outfit costs but $1, and consists of the pocket inhaler, medicine dropper and sufficient Hyomei to last several weeks.

It effects a cure in the worst catarrhal troubles and if breathed at the commencement of a cold or the grip, will check it quickly and prevent sickness. Extra bottles of Hyomei can be obtained for 50c.

When breathed through the inhaler, the germ-killing and health-giving Hyomei goes to the most remote cells of the throat and lungs, killing all the catarrhal germs, soothing the irritated mucous membrane and vitalizing the blood with ozone.

At this season of the year, every one should have a Hyomei outfit to prevent and cure catarrhal troubles, and ward off attacks of grip, pneumonia and similar germ diseases.

A GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY

The Dispatch List of Eligibles in Matrimonial Lines will Prove a Very Valuable Guide.

JAMES H. MURPHY, the man who runs the haberdasher emporium around the corner, has been credited with considerable ingenuity in the past, girls, with being able to shy his castor into the social whirlpool and has from time to time "made good" in whatever capacity he has been taxed, and yet the great web of matrimony has been unable to weave him in and it is a pity that he is still allowed to roam about like Don Caesar, scoffing at the bystanders who are wont to give ear to the good tidings from the east, crying, "How fares it with this noble Roman?" "Ah, ye coarser mongers, back to the bamboos," quoth Don, and he retires to repose on his couch of ease with ne'er a thought of the dear, fair damsels that come to the fountain to drink and be refreshed. This heart, girls, is anything but callous, but it requires the soothing and swaying device with the little love pats on his noble brow to lull him into the sleep from which there is no awakening, and say, dear fair one, did you ever gaze into those large dreamy eyes? There was never anything better. "Jim" is right up to snuff and any time he can't fill your ear full of good warm talk about the stars, the rippling brooks and the flowers, well Hello Bill. He is one of Brainerd's rising young business men and is always on duty, and there is no more popular place in the city, in fact, when the boys get to where they have no home to go to they always land at "Jim's" where they are given a warm welcome. He has a beautiful voice, a face that is as fair as day, lovely hair, and would do for a beauty show anywhere. He is a prime favorite with the girls, but do you know he is a hard one to land. It would take a strong net and plenty of force, but once landed he would make a hummer. He loves everything that woman loves, and one could not imagine anything but a life of happy events spent with this dear old boy. Go and get him girls. Did you ever see "Jim" on the stage. Say, he would put J. Wilkes Booth on the bum as an impresario and it has been said that he could beat Walker Whiteside in one, two, three time reciting Shakespeare. He is a lulu, and he ought to be married and have a wife to look after him. He would be the dearest thing in the world to have around and, do you know fair one, you would not have to do a tap of work, just sit and tell "Jim" love tales, go to the opera with him and have a good time generally.

A Very Close Call.

"I stuck to my engine, although every joint ached and every nerve was racked with pain," writes C. W. Bellamy, a locomotive fireman, of Burlington, Iowa. "I was weak and pale, without any appetite and all run down. As I was about to give up, I got a bottle of Electric Bitters, and after taking it, I felt as well as I ever did in my life." Weak, sickly, run down people, always gain new life, strength and vigor from their use. Try them. Satisfaction guaranteed by H. P. Dunn & Co. Price 50 cts

Gen. Joubert was born and raised in South Africa. His ancestors were among the first Huguenots to go to that country in the seventeenth century. He was engaged in farming and cattle dealing when the war broke out and immediately offered his services.

During the most critical period of the war he was in command of the south-eastern division of the Orange Free State army. Gen. Joubert was wounded three times during the war, and was finally captured when he received his third wound. He came to the United States some months ago to receive treatment for his wounds.

Capt. O'Donnell left Ireland when a boy of fourteen, after an outbreak of the farmers against the landlords. He went to South Africa and for several years was also in Australia. He was engaged in railroad construction work and also interested in mining when the war opened. He served on Gen. Dewitt's staff.

"NINE ROW" IS THREATENED

Home of Peter Nordquist was Destroyed by Fire Last Night--Partially Covered by Insurance.

Last evening about 4:30 o'clock an alarm was turned in from East Brainerd and the department made a very quick run to Elm street, where it was discovered that the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Nordquist, the last house on the east end of what is known as the old "nine row," was on fire. The little row of houses are in close proximity to one another and it was reported down town that they were all afire. The department, however, confined the fire to the one house.

The house was a small one and the loss will not exceed $400, although the structure was burned to the ground. All the furniture in the house was taken out and there was very little damage to this. The other houses were threatened but the prompt response of the department saved further damage.

DETAILS OF THE ACCIDENT

Particulars of the Accidental Killing of Frank B. Hawley as Given by a Montana Exchange.

The details regarding the accident in which Frank B. Hawley lost his life are contained in the following writeup in a Montana exchange:

"When the combination freight and passenger train No. 4 pulled into the yards Monday it was found that F. B. Hawley, the head brakeman, was missing. A hurried search was made made but nothing could be found of him. Sheriff L. P. Slater was telephoned for and he accompanied the train crew with an engine out as far as Glangary, all of the way being thoroughly searched for some trace of the missing trainman. The search was continued until 3 o'clock yesterday morning, when it was abandoned until daylight. Nothing having been heard of him the train went out in the morning without him.

"About 9:30 o'clock Tom Kern, foreman of the construction crew, found the body of the missing man in Spring creek, lodged against a gravel pile about 250 yards below where the track crosses the stream. Acting Coroner McFarland and County Attorney Belden were notified and a coroner's jury was summoned at once. On the jury were J. C. Mattoon, Joe Briggs, Fred Shaw, John Rowley, William Woods and Donald Fowler. They went out and viewed the body as it lay in the creek, after which it was taken from the water and placed in the undertaking room of George Creel. Here a thorough examination was made by the jury but no marks of violence were found. Superintendent E. H. Hoar was notified of the finding of the body and is making an effort to get into communication with the unfortunate man's mother, who is said to be a widow living in Brainerd, Minn.

"The coroner's jury met in the office of Justice McFarland last night about 9 o'clock and held the inquest. Engineer Butler, Conductor Haviland and Fireman Davenport, the other members of the train crew on No. 4, and Foreman Tom Kern were examined. The train men testified to having seen Hawley on the third car back at the crossing of Main street. How he came to fall into the creek none of them could tell. The theory was advanced that as there was some snow on the top of the car and Hawley did not have on any overshoes, he slipped and fell from the car. Either that or he got off the car and fell as he started across the trestle. The latter theory seems the more probable, as one of his gloves was found on the bank of the creek near the railroad crossing. His lantern was found in the creek about fifty feet below the crossing. After hearing all of the facts, so far as the railroad men knew them, the jury retired and within a few moments brought in a verdict as follows:

"We, the jury, find that F. B. Hawley came to his death from accidental drowning."

"Hawley was a powerfully built young fellow about 25 years of age and had been in the employ of the railroad company only about ten days or two weeks. This was his third trip out and in. His body will be held here pending some word from his relatives or acquaintances in Brainerd."

HOW HYOMEI HELPS THE HEALTH

Kills the Germs of Grip, Catarrh and Colds. "Costs Nothing If It Fails."

Now that Hyomei can be obtained in nearly every town and city in the country, it is possible to buy from druggists a health giving climate to be carried in the purse or pocket. By breathing it a few minutes four times a day you can soon cure grip, coughs, colds and even the worst and most chronic cases of catarrh.

H. P. Dunn & Co. have seen so many remarkable cures made by the Hyomei treatment, that they sell it with the positive agreement to return the money if it fails to cure.

A complete outfit costs but $1, and consists of the pocket inhaler, medicine dropper and sufficient Hyomei to last several weeks.

It effects a cure in the worst catarrhal troubles and if breathed at the commencement of a cold or the grip, will check it quickly and prevent sickness. Extra bottles of Hyomei can be obtained for 50c.

When breathed through the inhaler, the germ-killing and health-giving Hyomei goes to the most remote cells of the throat and lungs, killing all the catarrhal germs, soothing the irritated mucous membrane and vitalizing the blood with ozone.

At this season of the year, every one should have a Hyomei outfit to prevent and cure catarrhal troubles, and ward off attacks of grip, pneumonia and similar germ diseases.

A GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY

The Dispatch List of Eligibles in Matrimonial Lines will Prove a Very Valuable Guide.

JAMES H. MURPHY, the man who runs the haberdasher emporium around the corner, has been credited with considerable ingenuity in the past, girls, with being able to shy his castor into the social whirlpool and has from time to time "made good" in whatever capacity he has been taxed, and yet the great web of matrimony has been unable to weave him in and it is a pity that he is still allowed to roam about like Don Caesar, scoffing at the bystanders who are wont to give ear to the good tidings from the east, crying, "How fares it with this noble Roman." "Ah, ye easter mongers, back to the bamboos," quoth Don, and he retires to repose on his couch of ease with ne'er a thought of the dear, fair damsels that come to the fountain to drink and be refreshed. This heart, girls, is anything but callous, but it requires the soothing and swaying device with the little love pats on his noble brow to lull him into the sleep from which there is no awakening, and say, dear fair one, did you ever gaze into those large dreamy eyes? There was never anything better. "Jim" is right up to snuff and any time he can't fill your ear full of good warm talk about the stars, the rippling brooks and the flowers, well Hello Bill. He is one of Brainerd's rising young business men and is always on duty, and there is no more popular place in the city, in fact, when the boys get to where they have no home to go to they always land at "Jim's" where they are given a warm welcome. He has a beautiful voice, a face that is as fair as day, lovely hair, and would do for a beauty show anywhere. He is a prime favorite with the girls, but do you know he is a hard one to land. It would take a strong net and plenty of force, but once landed he would make a hummer. He loves everything that woman loves, and one could not imagine anything but a life of happy events spent with this dear old boy. Go and get him girls. Did you ever see "Jim" on the stage. Say, he would put J. Wilkes Booth on the bum as an impresario and it has been said that he could beat Walker Whiteside in one, two, three time reciting Shakespeare. He is a lulu, and he ought to be married and have a wife to look after him. He would be the dearest thing in the world to have around and, do you know fair one, you would not have to do a tap of work, just sit and tell "Jim" love tales, go to the opera with him and have a good time generally.

A Very Close Call.

"I stuck to my engine, although every joint ached and every nerve was racked with pain," writes C. W. Bellamy, a locomotive fireman, of Burlington, Iowa. "I was weak and pale, without any appetite and all run down. As I was about to give up, I got a bottle of Electric Bitters, and after taking it, I felt as well as I ever did in my life." Weak, sickly, run down people, always gain new life, strength and vigor from their use. Try them. Satisfaction guaranteed by H. P. Dunn & Co. Price 50 cts

SOME INTERESTING FRATERNAL EVENTS

Odd Fellows, Encampment and Rebekah Joint Installation Last Night.

YOEMEN INSTALLATION TONIGHT

And Some Distinguished Personalities Will be Present and Deliver Good Addresses.

Last night the I. O. O. F. members, the members of the Encampment and the Rebekahs held a joint installation in Odd Fellows hall and the event was made a memorable one in Odd Fellow circles in this city. After the installation, which was gone through with much interest, some excellent addresses by Rev. Harry Knowles, of the First M. E. church, and Mr. O. G. Mason, who is a guest in the city, were listened to. The addresses over, the members of the order seated themselves around the banquet board and partook of a sumptuous feast prepared by the Rebekahs. The event was very interesting throughout.

Tonight the members of the Yoemen order in this city will install their officers. Ordinarily this would not mean anything unusual but tonight the presence of two of the leading spirits of the order will add more importance to the occasion. Dr. O. G. Winters, deputy manager for Wisconsin, Minnesota and North Dakota, and M. O. G. Mason, grand master of ceremonies, will be present and the event will be made more interesting from this fact. Both gentlemen will deliver addresses and it is understood that a fine program has been mapped out. A banquet will be served and several toasts listened to.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

The following is from the St. Paul Globe, Sunday, December 13, 1903:

"Under the present methods of the British, the Boers can never become satisfied under English rule," said Gen. G. D. Loubert, a brave and picturesque man, who left his cattle ranch to command a division of the Boer army during the late war with Great Britain.

Gen. Joubert, in company with his former aid-de-camp, Capt. W. S. O'Donnell, who made a fine record for himself, arrived in St. Paul yesterday and will lecture this afternoon at the Metropolitan opera house on the "Boer People and their War with Great Britain."

Gen. Joubert was born and raised in South Africa. His ancestors were among the first Huguenots to go to that country in the seventeenth century. He was engaged in farming and cattle dealing when the war broke out and immediately offered his services.

During the most critical period of the war he was in command of the southeastern division of the Orange Free State army. Gen. There was never anything better. "Jim" is right up to snuff and any time he can't fill your ear full of good warm talk about the stars, the rippling brooks and the flowers, well Hello Bill. He is one of Brainerd's rising young business men and is always on duty, and there is no more popular place in the city, in fact, when the boys get to where they have no home to go to they always land at "Jim's" where they are given a warm welcome. He has a beautiful voice, a face that is as fair as day, lovely hair, and would do for a beauty show anywhere. He is a prime favorite with the girls, but do you know he is a hard one to land. It would take a strong net and plenty of force, but once landed he would make a hummer. He loves everything that woman loves, and one could not imagine anything but a life of happy events spent with this dear old boy. Go and get him girls. Did you ever see "Jim" on the stage. Say, he would put J. Wilkes Booth on the bum as an impresario and it has been said that he could beat Walker Whiteside in one, two, three time reciting Shakespeare. He is a lulu, and he ought to be married and have a wife to look after him. He would be the dearest thing in the world to have around and, do you know fair one, you would not have to do a tap of work, just sit and tell "Jim" love tales, go to the opera with him and have a good time generally.

A Very Close Call.

"I stuck to my engine, although every joint ached and every nerve was racked with pain," writes C. W. Bellamy, a locomotive fireman, of Burlington, Iowa. IN MEXICO

Its Inhabitants and Their Modes of Living, Marriage Ceremonies Etc., Etc.

The Queer Doings of Some of Its People.

The woman is a beast of burden; the child a wild little thing that gets barely enough water to drink and none to wash in; the man stands wrapped to the eyes in his gaudy blanket, as still and solemn as if the very silence of the desert had struck into his soul. His body is dwarfed and drawn and his mind runs into a very narrow channel. He is but the stunted growth of his poor surroundings. Some day the lands around him may be irrigated and when the green fields stretch away before his eyes and the flowers bloom in his path and birds come to mate in the trees that will grow, it will refresh him and his children will have a better place among the sons of men.

It is customary for a couple to live together and get married whenever they have enough cash to pay the fee. The priest makes a trip among them each year and marries all who are ready. If times are hard the ceremony may have to be postponed for several years and sometimes it is never performed. If a native goes a distance of from fifteen to twenty miles away from home he is looked upon as a foreigner, a man who has come from afar off. The hot country people, that portion of Mexico lying on the coast and southern part of Mexico, are called better off than the other desert natives. They have plenty of water and plenty to eat, their surroundings and all being more pleasant, consequently they can muster to a higher standard. They are not very fond of work, however, and get out of it whenever the opportunity affords. The average salary paid for man's work is about 25 cents a day in Mexican money and the Mexican's entire cost for clothing throughout the entire year would amount to only about 67 cents, all they need to wear being a cotton blouse and duck or cotton trousers and sandals home made of sole leather. The cooking is mostly done by two bricks or stones set up edgewise and a piece of sheet iron across the top heated by a charcoal fire. They bake and fry their meats on these with the utmost skill.

The Mexican as a rule does not live to an old age. They are subject to disease and when once disease or plague attacks them they die quite rapidly.

Dr. W. D. Rea, in his recent work on the prevalent diseases in Mexico, states that a great majority of the Mexican children die before they are twelve years old. In the city of Mexico there are three hundred deaths a day. These deaths are caused principally from neglect and the non-attendance of a physician. The principal diseases arise from filth and neglect. It is a common sight in the Mexican cities to see a Mexican with a coffin containing a corpse on his shoulder, carrying it down the middle of the street and the mourners following. In the city of Mexico, which has a population of 500,000 people, the government has provided special funeral street cars which add greatly to the convenience of their burial. Dr. Rea has perhaps studied the habits of the Mexican more thoroughly than any other American physician. He has traveled among the plain people, practiced among the rich, studied their habits, studied the action of medicine on different individuals, and has formulated plans and prescriptions from his long experience that rarely fail to cure disease.

His practice in the last fifteen years has extended in a great measure all over Mexico and the United States. It has, however, been largest in Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa and the two Dakotas. Thousands of people have consulted him and thousands have been cured. His laboratories are the largest of any known physician's outside of Chicago, Buffalo or New York. His ability to diagnose disease is, without question, one of the best of any living physician.

Knowing quickly what is the matter with one he is not liable to doctor them for the wrong ailment nor is he liable to give them such treatment that would be of no avail to them. It is claimed by Dr. Rea's friends that he can diagnose any disease without asking a question. He treats those diseases that have principally been neglected or that have been doctor'd by other physicians and have failed to have been cured by them.

He does not attempt to cure incurable diseases and if there are certain cases that he thinks are useless to treat and that nothing but death can cure, he will not promise to cure them. In palpitation of the heart; nervousness, confusion of ideas and loss of memory and the many diseases which affect mankind. Dr. Rea has perhaps had more experience in treating them than any other living physician. The medical profession seems powerless to understand why it is that Dr. Rea performs such wonderful cures, especially so when they so often fail. His charges are reasonable and no one need be deprived of a cure, no matter how poor he is. He guarantees his treatment to be just what he claims for it and his patients can depend on what he says. He is the originator and founder of the Southern Medical Institute, of Louisville, Ky., and has within the last three years established a large office in Minneapolis, Minn.

His system for curing varicocele, hydrocele and diseases of men is the quickest and best known. His cure for asthma, hard breathing and shortness of breath has never been known to fail. For blood poisoning, lost manhood and nervous debility he is perhaps at his best. No patient has ever been known to go away from him without being cured when they once placed themselves under his celebrated treatment. His treatment is free from humbug and you can, out of gratitude, conscientiously recommend him to your fellow men.

In diseases of stunted development and slow growth, deformity, curvature of the spine both in young and old, etc., his treatment is not equaled. Dr. Rea does not your case for treatment if your home doctor can cure you. He wants those cases that have been given up by such physicians as incurable cases. He will promise to restore them to health, their families and their friends. In bronchitis and all affections of the throat, lungs, or any vital organs, he can easily overcome these diseases in the shortest length of time. Partial paralysis, locomotor ataxia, dropsy and piles are quickly and permanently cured. Dr. Rea's treatment and cure by absorption for appendicitis, gall stones, bowel tumors and other abdominal growths, is one of his most wonderful achievements and has never been known to fail. In female weakness, displacements, drains, ulcers and irregular menstruation there is no specialist, no matter where he be, that has anything so good.

Some recent cures that he has made we herewith take the liberty to publish.

Mrs. Lucy Brondess, Kent, Minn., cured of chronic rheumatism of the feet and stiffness of the ankles. Had been sick for many years and tried many treatments. Cured with Dr. Rea's celebrated treatment in a few months.

Mrs. F. E. Neuman, 99 Canal St., Grand Rapids, Mich., cured of an ulcerated cancerous growth on the eyelid. Dr. Rea was called to Chicago and treated her one time only. She is completely cured after having been given up to die by the doctors.

Gotlieb Passbrig, Great Bend, Ind. N. D., cured of chronic catarrh of the stomach, constipation and bad blood.

G. J. Erickson, Mountain, N. D., cured of rheumatism, blood poison and stiffness of the joints.

Albert Berg, Adrian, Minn., cured of stomach troubles and epilepsy.

Walter Snow, Boscobel, Wis., says Dr. Rea's medicines are the best he ever took in his life.

H. C. Myers, New Prague, Minn., cured of heart disease and stomach trouble. He had been pronounced incurable by other physicians.

A. W. Martin, Mora, Minn., cured of eating cancer of the face without an operation by Dr. Rea's injection plan. The most complete and sure cancer cure known in medical history.

Victor Anderson, Fargo, N. D., cured of chronic uric acid rheumatism. The medicine he had taken before always made him worse. Dr. Rea's Cascara treatment soon eliminated the rheumatism entirely from the system.

Mrs. E. O. Evans, Mt. Claire, Sta., Chicago, Ill., writes: "Dr. Rea: I have heard of your wonderful cancer cure. This is a great field for cancers and I would like to open a branch office here in Chicago with an assistant physician to treat patients. I am a nurse and understand hypodermic injections. I know your cancer cure cures."

Michael McCabe, Arvilla, N. D., cured of chronic rodent ulcer of the leg. Cured quickly and by medical treatment which also did his general system much good.

Miss Nellie Dragsdale, Minn., cured of rheumatism and catarrh quickly when other doctors told her that it was of no use to doctor.

Miss Lydia Buck, Wheatland, N. D., cured of early consumption and bron-

Dr. Rea has perhaps studied the habits of the Mexican more thoroughly than any other American physician. He has traveled among the plain people, practiced among the rich, studied their habits, studied the action of medicine on different individuals, and has formulated plans and prescriptions from his long experience that rarely fail to cure disease.

His practice in the last fifteen years has extended in a great measure all over Mexico and the United States. It has, however, been largest in Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa and the two Dakotas. Thousands of people have consulted him and thousands have been cured. His laboratories are the largest of any known physician's outside of Chicago, Buffalo or New York. His ability to diagnose disease is, without question, one of the best of any living physician. Knowing quickly what is the matter with one he is not liable to doctor them for the wrong ailment nor is he liable to give them such treatment that would be of no avail to them. It is claimed by Dr. Rea's friends that he can diagnose any disease without asking a question. He treats those diseases that have principally been neglected or that have been doctored by other physicians and have failed to have been cured by them.

He does not attempt to cure incurable diseases and if there are certain cases that he thinks are useless to treat and that nothing but death can cure, he will not promise to cure them. In palpitation of the heart, nervousness, confusion of ideas and loss of memory and the many diseases which affect mankind. Dr. Rea has perhaps had more experience in treating them than any other living physician. The medical profession seems powerless to understand why it is that Dr. Rea performs such wonderful cures, especially so when they so often fail. His charges are reasonable and no one need be deprived of a cure, no matter how poor he is. He guarantees his treatment to be just what he claims for it and his patients can depend on what he says. He is the originator and founder of the Southern Medical Institute, of Louisville, Ky., and has within the last three years established a large office in Minneapolis, Minn.

His system for curing varicocele, hydrocele and diseases of men is the quickest and best known. His cure for asthma, hard breathing and shortness of breath has never been known to fail. For blood poisoning, lost manhood and nervous debility he is perhaps at his best. No patient has ever been known to go away from him without being cured when they once placed themselves under his celebrated treatment. His treatment is free from humbug and you can, out of gratitude, conscientiously recommend him to your fellow men.

In diseases of stunted development and slow growth, deformity, curvature of the spine both in young and old, etc., his treatment is not equalled. Dr. Rea does not try your case for treatment if your home doctor can cure you. He wants those cases that have been given up by such physicians as incurable cases. He will promise to restore them to health, their families and their friends. In bronchitis and all affections of the throat, lungs, or any vital organs, he can easily overcome these diseases in the shortest length of time. Partial paralysis, locomotor ataxia, dropsy and piles are quickly and permanently cured. Dr. Rea's treatment and cure by absorption for appendicitis, gall stones, bowel tumors and other abdominal growths, is one of his most wonderful achievements and has never been known to fail. In female weakness, displacements, drains, ulcers and irregular menstruation there is no specialist, no matter where he be, that has anything so good.

Some recent cures that he has made we herewith take the liberty to publish. Mrs. Lucy Brondess, Kent, Minn., cured of chronic rheumatism of the feet and stiffness of the ankles. Had been sick for many years and tried many treatments. Cured with Dr. Rea's celebrated treatment in a few months.
